PETITIONING THE COURT

☒ To modify the conditions of supervision as follows:

The defendant shall pay minimum payments of $120 a month toward his restitution obligation.

CAUSE

The offender was sentenced by Your Honor on June 25, 2002, following a plea of guilty to the offense of possession of a listed chemical with the intent to manufacture a controlled substance. Keel was sentenced to a term of ninety-seven months custody, followed by a three-year term of supervised release. In addition, restitution was ordered by the Court in the amount of $7,802. At the time of sentencing, no payment schedule was set by the Court.

On March 26, 2009, Keel was released from custody and began his three-year term of supervised release. Prior to the commencement of his supervised release term, the offender paid $1,225 towards his restitution obligation; furthermore, for the past six months, Keel has paid $660 on his restitution obligation, leaving a current principal balance of $5,917. Keel is currently employed with Hawthorne Suites of Garden City, Georgia, as a maintenance man, earning $8 an hour while working an average of thirty-five hours a week. The offender resides with his daughter in Brooklet, Georgia. The probation officer has examined the offender's financial status and believes that a minimum monthly restitution payment plan of $120 is appropriate, given Keel's income and other monthly financial responsibilities.
